Sharper drop of ER probability with context-dependence

Multiple stress effects from the context dependence can be summarized in  $\alpha$

Proportion of rescue from standing variance always higher than from de novo mutations and roughly stable with  $r_{D}$